Costs Controlled Over Traditional Method

With our hosted solution, we do all the work and the training comes to the student! We provide the hosting, database backups, upgrades, and technical support.

Save money – Our pricing models do not have any big upfront commitments for our enterprise class software.

Fast implementation – We can get you up and running quickly. You do not need to train or even use your IT staff.

Improved IT Productivity – Your IT department can remain focused on critical productivity issues, while we provide all the hosting support your organization will require.

Self-Paced and Easy to Use

Web Style Navigation is available 24/7. Students can go through the material at their own pace. Students aren't in classes for hours a day. This method allows students to take breaks when they get bored or need more coffee. Students can stop in the middle of a course, set a bookmark, then return to pick up where they left off.

Managers receive clear reports of where their students stand and if they are having difficulty with material reflected by low test scores.

Progress Accountability

Each student has a unique user ID so training managers can track progress and ensure students have taken the courses. With a clear record of student progress, communication and feedback from students is enhanced.

Creative Interactive Multimedia Modules

Flexible and robust allowing you to rapidly deploy multimedia training systems to small groups, departments and the enterprise via the Internet or Intranet.

Our course designs are simple, easy-to-use, yet highly effective tools in your hands. Each student gets a different test from a large pool of questions.

Builds Library of Information for Future Use

All training materials can be archived for future use or to show the evolution of programs.

Content Continuously Updated, Clarified, and/or Refocused

Allows for adjustments and perfection of material. If students are consistently missing a test question, it identifies an area needing clarification which can be adjusted accordingly.

You can administer what courses students take and in which order. This means you can build a strong foundation with students, ensuring first level information is understood before progressing on to the next level or build custom programs of study from a battery of existing materials.
